What type of a trader/investor are you?

Your real-time access fees, and the form of agreement with exchanges, may vary depending on which user-type you select.

1. Are you registered with any state, federal, or international securities agency or self-regulatory body?
2. Are you engaged as an Investment Advisor?
3. Are you employed by an organization that is exempt from U.S. securities laws that would otherwise require your registration?
4. Are you setting up this account in a business or organizational name?
5. Will your exchange agreements be signed in a business or organizational name?
6. Are you using or planning to use the exchange data for any reason other than personal use?

If you answered "YES" to any of the above questions, Quote.com considers you to be professional user and ineligible for the non-professional status.
